Executive Summary

The 2020 State of American Theology Study is the fourth in a series of surveys of American adults examining their theological beliefs. Previous surveys were conducted in 2018, 2016 and 2014. Some comparisons are made in this report to questions repeated across multiple years. Other questions have been asked for the first time.

Ligonier Ministries sponsored the 2020 State of American Theology Study conducted by LifeWay Research to measure the current theological awareness of adult Americans and to expand upon earlier findings. Ligonier Ministries identified specific doctrines and heresies to test. LifeWay Research helped refine these questions and subsequently surveyed 3,002 Americans.

Questions focused on six key doctrinal areas and included a number of specific areas where Americans differ from historic and orthodox views.

Beliefs about God
On all 4 surveys, two-thirds of Americans have considered the resurrection of Jesus an actual occurrence. But, a majority of Americans deny the deity of Christ and that Jesus has always existed. Almost 6 in 10 categorize the Holy Spirit as being a force rather than a personal being. A consistent 7 in 10 Americans believe in one true God in three persons and almost two-thirds believe God is perfect. Almost as many believe God accepts worship from all religions.

- 65% of Americans agree “God is a perfect being and cannot make a mistake.”
- 52% of Americans agree “Jesus was a great teacher, but he was not God.”
- 55% of Americans agree “Jesus is the first and greatest being created by God.”
- Two-thirds of adult Americans agree “Biblical accounts of the physical (bodily) resurrection of Jesus are completely accurate. This event actually occurred.”
- 59% of Americans agree “The Holy Spirit is a force but is not a personal being.”
- 19% of Americans agree “The Holy Spirit can tell me to do something which is forbidden in the Bible.
- 72% of Americans agree “There is one true God in three persons: God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit.”
- 64% of Americans agree “God accepts the worship of all religions, including Christianity, Judaism and Islam.”
Beliefs about Goodness and Sin
Another consistency across all four surveys is that two-thirds of Americans find most people good by nature. For the first time, more than a quarter of Americans believe any sin deserves eternal punishment. More than half of Americans believe God measures righteousness by faith in Jesus Christ rather than one’s works.

- 26% of Americans agree “Even the smallest sin deserves eternal damnation.” This is higher than all previous surveys: 2018 (23%), 2016 (19%) and 2014 (18%).
- Two-thirds agree “Everyone sins a little, but most people are good by nature.”
- 56% agree “God counts a person as righteous not because of one’s works but only because of one’s faith in Jesus Christ.” This is higher than 2018 (53%).

Beliefs about Salvation and Religious Texts
Almost half of Americans believe the Bible is completely accurate and the same number say the Bible is really ancient myths. One thing that undermines opinions of the Bible for more than a third of Americans is the view that science disproves the Bible. 6 in 10 Americans believe that salvation is in “Christ alone,” and a quarter say God chose those who would be saved before creation.

- 48% agree “The Bible is 100% accurate in all that it teaches.”
- 48% agree “The Bible, like all sacred writings, contains helpful accounts of ancient myths but is not literally true.” This is similar to 2018 (47%) but remains higher than both the 2016 (44%) and 2014 (41%) surveys.
- 34% agree “Modern science disproves the Bible.”
- 60% of Americans agree “Only those who trust in Jesus Christ alone as their Savior receive God’s free gift of eternal salvation.”
- 26% agree “God chose the people he would save before he created the world.”

Beliefs about Rewards and Punishment
More than 6 in 10 Americans expect Jesus to return and judge all people. However, fewer expect people to be punished in a place called hell. More than a third believe God always rewards true faith with material blessings in this life.

- 56% of Americans agree “Hell is a real place where certain people will be punished forever.”
- 62% agree “There will be a time when Jesus Christ returns to judge all the people who have lived.”
- 36% agree “God will always reward true faith with material blessings in this life.”
Beliefs about the Church
Almost a quarter of Americans believe Christians should be quiet about political issues. Almost 6 in 10 Americans see valid alternatives to corporate worship. More than a third say entertaining worship services are a “must have” if a church wants to be effective. The vast majority say anyone can learn about theology.
- 58% of Americans agree “Worshiping alone or with one’s family is a valid replacement for regularly attending church.”
- 36% agree “Churches must provide entertaining worship services if they want to be effective.”
- 24% agree “Christians should be silent on issues of politics.”
- 15% agree “Learning about theology is for pastors and scholars only.”

Beliefs about Authority
Americans remain divided down the middle on whether abortion or sex outside of marriage is a sin. A similar half of Americans believe the Bible has authority over our choices. More than half say religious belief is about opinion rather than objective truth. A quarter think God is unconcerned with their daily decisions.
- 54% agree “Religious belief is a matter of personal opinion; it is not about objective truth.” This is lower than 2018 (60%).
- 51% agree “The Bible has the authority to tell us what we must do.”
- 51% agree “Sex outside of traditional marriage is a sin.”
- 51% agree “Abortion is a sin.”
- 25% of Americans agree that “God is unconcerned with my day-to-day decisions.”
- 38% agree “Gender identity is a matter of choice.”
- 40% agree “The Bible’s condemnation of homosexual behavior doesn’t apply today.” This is lower than 2018 (44%) but similar to 2016 (42%).
Methodology

The 2020 State of American Theology Study was conducted by LifeWay Research. The objective of the study is to quantify among a national sample of Americans indicators of theological understanding today. The project was designed with a large sample to allow for comparisons between groups within Christian churches and those outside the Christian faith.

The project was sponsored by Ligonier Ministries to ascertain the state of theological awareness and belief among Americans, including several subsets of Americans (particularly Evangelicals).

The quantitative survey of American adults was conducted using a large, national online panel. Quotas were in place to ensure the sample was demographically balanced and slight weights were used to ensure the sample matches the population on gender, age, ethnicity, income, region and religion. 3,002 surveys were completed March 10-18, 2020. The sample provides 95% confidence that the sampling error does not exceed ±2.0%. Margins of error are higher in subgroups.

Ligonier Ministries identified specific doctrines and heresies to test. LifeWay Research helped refine these questions to ensure the following principles were followed throughout the questionnaire:

- Each doctrine or heresy was tested by stating it as fact and asking the respondent to indicate their level of agreement,
- Phrasing that can introduce bias was excluded,
- Questions in which the desired response is agreement and questions in which the desired response is disagreement were mixed throughout the survey, and
- Wording choices sought to use words that would be understood by the typical American.
Quantitative Findings

BELIEFS ABOUT GOD

Americans with Evangelical Beliefs are more likely to Agree than those without Evangelical Beliefs (97% v. 58%). Americans who attend a religious service at least once or twice a month are more likely to Agree than those who do not (88% v. 47%). Americans age 18-34 are the least likely to Agree (59%). This is lower than the percentage of young adults agreeing in 2018 (66%).

The 65% who Agree is significantly lower than 2018 (69%) and consistent with both the 2016 (65%) and 2014 (63%) surveys.

Americans with Evangelical Beliefs are more likely to Agree than those without Evangelical Beliefs (96% v. 66%). Americans who attend a religious service at least once or twice a month are more likely to Agree than those who do not (90% v. 58%).

The 72% who Agree is consistent with 2018 (70%) and 2014 (71%) but higher than 2016 (69%).
Americans with Evangelical Beliefs are more likely to disagree than those without Evangelical Beliefs (49% v. 17%). Americans who attend a religious service at least once or twice a month are more likely to disagree than those who do not (30% v. 18%).
